

Australia's Iconic Clothing Brand est. 1910 - King Charles Favourite

Underwood

- Manufacturing + factory outlet since 1910, some 115 years old business
- King Charles used to wear the Claybourn coat when he was studying in Australia in 1966
- Similar to RM Williams and Driza-Bone, which were recently bought by top 5 rich lister Andrew Forrest and Gina Rinehart, respectively, for a considerable sum of money
- Claybourn used to manufacture for RM Williams
- The business occupies a total of 512m² of functional space, comprising a 152m² high-quality showroom/office area for the factory outlet, and a 360m² clearspan highbay for manufacturing, embroidery and warehouse.
- Great potential to expand the business globally for those aspiring entrepreneurs
- The current owner is selling below the cost by giving away the business's goodwill for a quick sale to focus on his core business in real est...
